

TIMELY BITS OF SPORT

Hughie Jennings Has a Song for Soothing Ty Cobb.

MORE PLAYERS WIELD PEN

Jacobson Signs with Giants and Stump Does Same with Yankees.

Hughie Jennings, who spends his summers in and about Detroit, is making his first appearance in vaudeville before a New York audience at Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre this week, and without making any odious comparisons it is sufficient to say that Hughie is just about as good an actor as he is a baseball manager. Being teamed up with a veteran like Ben Smith, the way is made easier, to be sure, but some of the stars from the Polo grounds have been seen behind the footlights with without assistance from the regulars, yet neither E. H. Southern nor George Cohan has trembled for his laurels. Hughie, however, is a different proposition, the only diamond here in his class being Charley Doan when it comes to the glare of the calcium.

Nothing stumps Hughie. He cracks a few jokes, recites a poem, catches in with a little witty dialogue and finally sings a song, first in a duet and then as a solo. He is not the volume of a carter, but the melody can be clearly discerned by dint of a little close attention. His vocal flight is confined to a rare bit entitled "What's How I Need You." Some time he may be thankful that the song is included in his repertoire. He will be able to warble it in Ty Cobb's ear if perchance the "Georgia Peach" is a little recalcitrant about signing his contract for next season.

There is quite a parcel of action in the sketch centering around the hiring of the negro mascot, Ben Smith, by the manager of the Tigers. Hughie sends the nabber of fortune into the clubhouse to get a uniform, but the latter is promptly thrown out. The mascot did not have the opportunity to find out the name of the houncer, but some one whispered in his ear that it was a certain gentleman from Georgia. No names were mentioned, but somehow or other Hughie guessed the identity of the player. By and large the act is far above the usual run of entertainment afforded by ball players—behind the footlights.

Bill Jacobson, a young outfielder tried out by McGraw at Marlin Springs last year and turned over to the Mobile club of the Southern Association for further seasoning, signed his contract with the Giants yesterday. Jacobson had a batting average of .263 and a fielding average of .55 in the 123 games he played with Mobile.

Bill Stump has signed a contract with the New York Yankees for the coming season. Stump was drafted from the Tri-State League in 1911. He is only twenty-one years old and has been tried at second and third bases and shortstop with the Yankees. He will go to Bermuda with the team.

The forfeit list of the Jockey Club published in "The Racing Calendar" of January shows a smaller number of delinquent owners than in many years. The total owed to the several associations amounts to $1,507.45.

Word came from Los Angeles last night that Fred Smoot, center fielder of the Giants, had signed his contract for next season and that it called for an increase in salary.

J. Franklin Baker, the home run maker of the Athletics, is not a "hold out." His signed contract was received by Connie Mack yesterday, keeping the famous $100,000 infield intact.

Louis Drucik, the pitcher who was released to the Sacramento club of the Pacific Coast League a few days ago, is delighted with the change. He feels that if he is ever to get his arm back into condition it must be in a warm climate. He was not particularly successful with Toronto last season. Louis looked like a find his first year with the Giants, but a subway accident caused an injury to his back from which he has never fully recovered.

Joseph D. O'Brien, last year secretary of the Giants, has returned to his home in Milwaukee. O'Brien bears no ill will toward the club for being forced out of his position. In fact he has only good words for those connected with the club, especially John McGraw, the manager, whom he hails as the greatest leader that ever lived. He has no definite plans for the future, but hopes to get back into baseball before long.

The latest additions to the ranks of the "hold-outs" are Hank Gowdy, a catcher, once with the Giants, and Bill McKechnie, an infielder of the Boston Braves; also Edgar Willet, pitcher of the Detroit Tigers. "More money," is their slogan.

Charley Ebbets, president of the Brooklyn Superbas, has accepted an invitation to attend the annual dinner of the Philadelphia Sporting Writers, to be held in that city on February 2.

The St. Louis Cardinals have released Frank Snyder, a catcher, to the Springfield Club of the Central League.

Connie Mack, manager and part owner of the Philadelphia Athletics, has disposed of his interests in the Reading Club of the Tri-State League. The purchasers are Jacob L. Wetzel, of Reading, and Albert Leopold, of Altoona.

Hugh Bedient, the young pitcher of the Red Sox who stood the test so bravely in the world's championship series with the Giants last October, has put his pen to the paper which means another season with the champions.

RUMORS OF A BIG TRADE

Charley Murphy Trying to Land Konetchy for the Cubs.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Chicago, Jan. 23.—Conflicting reports of the negotiations between the Cubs and the St. Louis Cardinals in a proposed big trade reached the city today. Miller Huggins, manager of the Cardinals, is quoted as saying he had not arranged a meeting with President Murphy of the Cubs in Cincinnati. Despite these reports, indications point to a trade.

Murphy said he had received a letter from Huggins offering a trade. Big Ed Konetchy, his first baseman, is dissatisfied with St. Louis and is holding out for $7,500 salary—a sum Huggins says the club will not pay. Murphy is anxious to land the big fellow, and also hopes to get Harry Salter, the left-handed pitcher, and Huggins want Jimmy Sheppard, and as he needs a catcher he might accept Cotter in a trade. In fact, Huggins needs a number of players, and Murphy has more athletes for disposal than any other owner. Salter, Knisely, Phelan, Sheppard and others on the Chicago list will be offered, it is said.

CORNELL CLINCHES LEAD

Halsted Brothers Play Well in Beating Pennsylvania Five.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Ithaca, N. Y., Jan. 23.—The Cornell basketball team clinched its hold on the lead for the league championship here this evening by defeating the Pennsylvania five by a score of 20 to 18. The game was fast throughout, and was a contest between two evenly matched teams.

Cornell earned the lead early in the first half of the match, but was unable to make any substantial gain on the Quakers, and the period ended with the score 8 to 7 in favor of the home team.

The Cornell men woke up in the last few minutes of the game, when baskets were shot from difficult angles with an accuracy which contradicted any suggestion of fatigue, and in turn kept the interference which in the past has been a safe distance from the goal.

The game was hard and many fouls were called, but there was no tendency to roughness. In the hard and clever playing Captain Bert Halsted and his brother Hal, of Brooklyn, stood out prominently. Lunden, a new forward, whom Dr. Sharpe developed, proved exceptionally fast and agile, and although small in comparison with his team mates, protected himself readily and made a good impression.

M'GRAW AGAIN ON STAND

Identifies World's Series Game by Uniforms of Players.

John J. McGraw, of the New York Giants, again was on the witness stand in the Morrisania court yesterday.

In the case of the National Baseball Commission against the Universal Film Company and the Commercial Film Company. The commission alleges that the two companies violated Section 49 of the Civil Rights act, in that they infringed on the rights of the Pathe Brothers by taking moving pictures of the last world's series of baseball games.

At the conclusion of the testimony Magistrate Butts postponed the case until next Thursday, when it is expected he may render a decision. He called for briefs from both sides.

McGraw, who testified on Wednesday, was on hand when the case was called. He was questioned by Israel Ludlow.

The lawyer asked if he had seen the pictures of the last world's series—the ones that have caused the present clash. McGraw said that he had seen a moving picture that looked like the second game of the last world's series, a game really played in Boston, but he declared that the picture, instead of showing the Boston baseball grounds, showed the Polo Grounds, in this city. He was asked how he knew this, and McGraw said that he knew by the uniforms. The New York team had a home uniform and a road uniform, he said.

He was asked if the pictures were taken with his consent, and he declared they were not. When pressed for a statement as to whether he was positive the pictures were really those of the last world's series McGraw said that he could only go by what was on the screen. The screen, said he, bore the caption: "Second Game—World Series—Played at Boston." The uniforms worn were those of the last season.

He was asked if he recognized any one in the picture, and he said he had recognized President McAlister of the Boston club sitting in a box.

The picture of the game in Boston showed a stand with empty seats, McGraw said, and he added that this was remarkable, as the grounds were always packed for the game.

"Council for the defendants at this point remarked: 'We do not admit that the pictures are of the world's series.'"

Magistrate Butts then exclaimed that if they were not it was "a piece of gross injustice and fooling the public."

PROTECTION FOR PLAYERS

National Agreement Comes in for Some Interpretation.

The National Baseball Commission issued a notice yesterday to major league clubs putting an interpretation on that part of the national agreement relative to the release of drafted players. It says that when a major league club desires to release a drafted player on whom it has secured interleague waivers it must notify the secretary of the national association, the president of the league from which the player was drafted and the National Commission.

If the player is claimed by the club from which he was drafted, or any other club in the national association, the secretary of that association will notify the club which drafted the player, the league from which he was drafted, and the commission within ten days after he has received notice, providing it is after February 5. This is five days after the time national association clubs are permitted to file claims for drafted major league players.

If no national association club claims the player, then the releasing club may do with him what it deems best. A major league club is required to enter into contract with its drafted players.

When a national association club claims the player a check for him must be forthcoming to the national association within five days, and this will be forwarded through the proper channels.

GOLFERS TAKE TO TRAPS

Shooting Tournery To Be Held at Baltusrol on Saturday.

Baltusrol golfers will hold a shooting tournament on the club grounds at 3:30 o'clock. Already twenty entries have been received. B. C. Finkle and Dr. D. W. Granberry are in charge of arrangements. Clay birds will be used, twenty-five to a man.

The Baltusrol Golf Club has offered an elaborate trophy to the winner. Heretofore the traps have been set back of the clubhouse, but this year they are to be placed just outside the gate, across the road, so that the shooters will have a clear sky line and plenty of room.

TO SEEK SPRINTING HONORS.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Philadelphia, Jan. 23.—Nate Cartmell and Will Martin, two professional sprinters, have finally completed arrangements to take a trip around the world to meet all the leading professionals of Europe and other countries.

Cartmell has been a student at Penn, but was declared a professional, and has not been able to represent the Red and Blue at the intercollegiate games. He is regarded by Mike Murphy as the fastest man in the country in races up to 157 yards.

"BATTING" NELSON MARRIED.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—"Battling" Nelson, the prizefighter, and Miss Fay King, of Denver, were married at Hegewisch, Ill., today.

GOOD RUN FOR SOCCER

New York State League in the Second Half of Schedule.

In no previous season has association football in New York had such a successful run as this year. The splendid soccer weather has enabled the teams competing in the New York State League to get well into the second half of the schedule, and it looks as if the official schedule would suffer practically no derangement.

STANDING OF THE TEAMS

New York Celtic Leads in First Division with Loss of Only One Game.

The standard of play continues to show improvement, the games this year having, as a rule, been fast and scientific. One of the most encouraging features in the State League series this year is the remarkable absence of rough work and the apparently earnest endeavor of players and officials to keep the game on a high plane.

An evidence of this was to be had in the recent cup between the Macdonalds and Critchleys, which, in spite of the importance of the game and the rivalry of the teams, was as free from rough work as could be wished. Another instance was to be seen in the St. George-New York Celtic League game. In spite of the strenuous rivalry of the teams they battled for 90 minutes to a draw, after one of the cleanest games ever watched.

Such contests are making more friends for the game this year than ever, and if the clubs will keep up the good work the future looks rosy.

The league championship is a much more open question than it has been in previous years. It is a peculiar fact that the two teams promoted from last year's second division have lost the fewest number of points. Too much credit cannot be accorded Gillespie, manager of the New York Celtic team, for his ability in getting together such a good football combination. He has shown rare ability in getting the right man in the right place. At the same time considerable credit is due Frank O'Hare and Billy Glover for the manner in which they have coached the team. To them the Celts owe their mastery of the low passing game which makes them so formidable.

The Brooklyn Celtics also have a fine record, and although they have dropped three more points they are by no means out of the running. The acquisition of "Baldy" Hill and Johnny MacQueen has made a considerable difference to the Brooklyn team. The Macdonalds were slow in getting started in the early part of the season, owing to the loss of a good many of the old standbys. Bob MacCullough, however, nothing discouraged, kept grinding his little axe, and has been chopping off points in good style.

The league standing follows:

FIRST DIVISION.

Played Won Lost Draw Points

New York Celtic 12 7 3 2 19
St. George 12 6 1 5 13
Brooklyn Celtic 12 6 1 5 13
Macdonalds 12 6 1 5 13
Holmes 12 6 1 5 13
Yonkers 12 5 4 3 13
St. Nicholas 12 5 4 3 13
Newark 12 4 12 7 10
Mackinac 12 1 10 1 2

Owing to the withdrawal of Newark, the games remaining to be played by that club are recorded as forfeited and the points awarded accordingly.

SECOND DIVISION.

Played Won Lost Draw Points

Greenpoint 12 11 0 1 23
Columbia 12 9 1 2 20
Brooklyn Celtic 12 8 1 3 19

Overcast 12 1 9 0 2
Longfellow 12 1 9 0 2
Spanish 12 1 10 0 2

The big game on Sunday will be between New York Celtic and Brooklyn Celtic at Jasper's Oval.

TEST FOR 'YOUNG' SHUGRUE

Will Have His Hands Full in Bout with Leach Cross.

Whether or not Young Shugrue is entitled to be placed among those in direct line for the lightweight championship probably will be thrashed out on the evening of January 25, when this rapidly improving Jersey City boxer meets Leach Cross in Madison Square Garden. Cross has on many occasions proved himself to be a thorn in the side of the best boys in his class. He is especially dangerous over the ten-round distance. The dentist demonstrated that to the satisfaction of all in his recent bout with Joe Rivers.

Shugrue is a whirlwind in the ring, never hanging back an instant in his attack, yet with all his speed he rarely fails to show up. He fights with either hand, whipping over the blows from all sorts of angles, and there are many who predict that he will have even the crafty Cross knocking before the bout has gone far.

Another contest the Garden A. C. has arranged for the same evening and which looks equally attractive will bring together "Young Jack" O'Brien and Phil, the junior partner of the Cross concern. The Philadelphia, who has been filling out rapidly of late, is outgrowing the lightweight division, and it will not be long before he will be boxing among the welters. He will meet Cross at 128 pounds.

Eddie Sherman and "Knockout" Eggers will meet in the main bout of ten rounds at the New Polo A. C., to-night. A semi-final of six rounds and four four-round bouts make up the rest of the programme. All the contestants are New York boys.

The bout between Jess Willard and Dan Daly to-morrow evening, in Philadelphia, has been cancelled on account of Willard's breaking a bone in his right hand while boxing Frank Bauer at Fort Wayne on Wednesday.

SKATERS DIVIDE HONORS

McLean and Wheeler Winners in Amateur Indoor Tournery.

Cleveland, Jan. 23.—Robert McLean, of the Illinois Athletic Club, and R. Wheeler, of the Montreal Athletic Club, again divided honors in the international amateur indoor skating championship races to-night. But for a foul, which disqualified him, McLean might have made a clean sweep of the three races.

Wheeler was declared winner of the one-third mile race because McLean attempted to get the inside track. The time for this was 1:16. W. Gunderson, of the Illinois Athletic Club, was second.

McLean won both the one-quarter-mile and the three-quarter-mile races in 27.3 and 2:06, respectively. F. Robson, of Toronto, finished second in the quarter-mile, and Wheeler second in the three-quarter-mile. Robson, holder of the 22-yard amateur skating championship title, failed in a trial to lower his record to 18 seconds, making the distance in 29 seconds.

CAPABLANCA IN LEAD

Defeats Whitaker in Postponed Game of Chess Tournery.

By defeating Norman T. Whitaker, former chess champion of the University of Pennsylvania, in the postponed game of the second round of the national masters' tournament at the Cafe Boulevard yesterday afternoon Jose R. Capablanca, of Havana, assumed the lead with a clean score of three straight victories to his credit.

The result of this encounter was wholly contrary to general expectations inasmuch as Whitaker, who had played really brilliant chess in the early stages of the game on Tuesday, was considered to have at least a draw in the adjourned position, with some chances even of winning. After resumption of play yesterday, however, he played quite indifferently, though it must be said for him that the position was an exceedingly difficult one to handle. It could be seen that he was eager to establish an advantage and this led him to neglect providing a proper defense for his king.

Capablanca had seized his fifty-first move, B-Q. At his fifty-sixth turn he appeared for twenty minutes. Finally he decided to have made up his mind and placed his queen at Q-B8, without, however, relinquishing his hold upon the piece. Suddenly, he switched away from that square and played the queen back to K-K4. Whether this manoeuvre served to distract his opponent in any way did not appear, but Whitaker nevertheless made a move which enabled the Cuban to win an important pawn through a check by discovery.

Later, Capablanca won the other of Whitaker's centre pawns, and then, getting out his rook, which had been bottled up for a long time, the Cuban won had the game well in hand. Whitaker resigned after sixty-six moves, when the black king rook's pawn had been advanced to the seventh row and could not be stopped from queening.

The other adjourned game, between Harry Kline, of Boston, and I. Tennant, of this city, resulted in a draw after forty-seven moved rounds the scores of the players are as follows:

Player Won Lost Player Won Lost
Capablanca 2 0 0 Janowski 1 0 1
Chapman 2 0 0 Kline 1 0 1
Jaffe 2 0 0 Rubinstein 1 0 1
Kupchik 2 0 0 Morison 1 0 1
Marshall 2 0 1 Whitaker 1 0 1
Stauffer 2 0 1 Zapiosen 1 0 1
Tennant 2 0 1 Liebenstein 0 0 2

The fourth round will be contested in the following order at the Cafe Boulevard this afternoon and evening:

Chapman vs. Stauffer, Marshall vs. Liebenstein, Whitaker vs. Zapiosen, Janowski vs. Kupchik, Morison vs. Capablanca, Tennant vs. Rubinstein, Jaffe vs. Kline.

ATHLETIC LEAGUE BOWLING

Roseville, North End and Newark Bay Teams Victors.

Three series were rolled last night in the Athletic Bowling League. Roseville winning the odd at Jersey City, North End doing similarly at Montclair, while Newark Bay, in a postponed series on the alleys of the Columbia Club, of East Orange, was unable to get a game.

Roseville had little difficulty in the first against Jersey City, winning by more than fifty pins through the better team work. Dick Eriks's 231 in the second helped the home combination to win easily, but in the third the old Roseville team work was put under way again and the odd was carried off comfortably.

The work of William H. Lockwood, the Montclair anchor, was the feature of the clash with North End. His average for the evening was 206, by means of consistent pinning. Indifferent support on the part of his team mates, however, permitted the visitors to carry off two.

Newark Bay put up a brave fight against Columbia, and although Perry's effort for the visitors in the first game was 202, he was unable to hold his rival anchor, Lum, in the last frames. Lum struck out and won for his team by seven pins. Smith and Lum were the means of the home five getting the second, both contributing 200 tallies, and the team won by nearly fifty pins. In the final, a decided weakness developed in the visiting line, so that the East Orange outfit was able to nose out by 57 pins.

NEEDS MORE GOLF TRUSTEES.

The Plainfield Golf Club has announced that a plan to reincorporate the club will be submitted at an annual meeting in the Hartridge auditorium, Plainfield, on February 4. The purpose is to provide a way to increase the number of trustees from nine to twelve. The organization has become too large for nine trustees to handle conveniently, or so it is explained in the announcement.

TRAINING CAMP FOR PHILLIES.

Philadelphia, Jan. 23.—The Philadelphia club of the National League decided today to have its team train at Southern Pines, N. C. The squad will leave here on February 24, the same day the Athletics depart for the training grounds at Santa Antonio, Tex.

Wallace F. Shultz, pitcher of the Phillies, was sold to-day to the Sacramento club, of the Pacific Coast League.

GILCHRIST TO LEAD NAVY

Elected Captain of Football Eleven for Next Fall.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 23.—K. P. Gilchrist, of Missouri, right end of the Naval Academy football team, was to-day elected captain of the eleven for next season. The election, which was postponed because of an operation upon the nose of Roden, captain last fall, took place this afternoon. Roden was first selected, but declined to accept again, and Gilchrist was then named.

Gilchrist made the team during his fourth class year, his position being right end. He played quarterback in 1911, and during the season just closed he returned to his old position at end. He is a strong, experienced player and a most dependable one. There was a general feeling that his constant work made him deserve the captaincy in his graduating year, and it is believed that he will make a strong leader.

The team has remarkable prospects for next season. Only one man, Hall, left tackle, will be lost by graduation. Eight members of the first class next year are now on the team, and the Naval Academy has never lost a game to the Army since this class entered the academy.

STAR RUNNERS ENTERED

Sheppard and Kiviat to Clash in Manhattan College Games.

Twelve middle distance runners have entered the special $80-yard invitation run at the annual games of Manhattan College, in the 99th Regiment Armory, 25th street and Lexington avenue, to-night.

In this feature a spirited duel is looked for between Melvin W. Sheppard and Abel R. Kiviat, the two champions of the Irish-American Athletic Club. Both athletes are in splendid condition, and the peerless Mel will have to exert himself to the limit to take the measure of Kiviat if both start.

Another tussle is expected in the 65-yard dash, in which William E. Conway and Alvin T. Meyers, of the Irish-American A. C., and Frank L. Stephenson, the metropolitan indoor champion of the Trinity Club, are the most formidable sprinters entered.

Quaker Swimmers Confident

of Victory Over McGill

However, Hodgson, Draper and the New Men May Spring Some Surprises.

Although the swimming team of McGill University, Canada, which will face the watermen of Pennsylvania to-morrow includes the pick of the Dominion, the wearers of the Red and Blue are confident of winning.

They freely concede the 100 and 200 yard races to George Hodgson, the Montreal all-around champion who placed to his credit two Olympic titles at Stockholm last summer, but in the other events they expect to triumph. As pointed out by one of the Philadelphia men, Frank McGill and George Draper, the best sprinters from across the border, were unable last year, against the New York Athletic Club, to beat 28 seconds for this distance, while Ouerbacher has repeatedly covered it in 28 seconds.

Again Hodgson, Draper, McGill and Kerry, the Maple Leaf relay quartet, could not at its last appearance here come within four seconds of the times recently made at 800 feet by Ouerbacher, Lawrence, Douglas and Shryock, the Pennsylvania team. As to this, however, McGill and Draper are said to have improved materially, and Hodgson has unquestionably, so a surprise may be in store.

In fancy diving the Canadians will use Williamson and Smith, both unknown on this side of the border, and there is no telling how they will compare with Jamieson and Coons, but it appears a foregone conclusion that Angely and Shoemaker, if in form, will take the plunge honors easily, for
